Internet Host Growth

Host Distribution by Top Level Domain

WorldWide Web Growth

Adapted from Matthew Gray's Wanderer

Why is it growing?

- Low cost for
 - vendors
 - consumers
 - wide choice of gui software
- Ubiquity of tcp/ip
- Standards process
- Ease of use
- Telecommunications technology
- Competitive forces

Low Cost

- Vendors
 - leasing
 - web space
 - server
 - owning
 - capital
 - access
 - authoring
- Consumers
 - access from work
 - access from home
 - information providers
 - Internet service providers
 - access from school
 - wide choice of gui software
 - Internet in a Box
 - Internet Chameleon
 - Trumpet
 - Dozens of others

Ubiquity of tcp/ip

- DOS
- Macintosh
- Windows
 - Windows 95
- UNIX
- VM
- MVS

Standards Process

- Internet Engineering Task Force
- WWW Consortium
- De facto

Ease of Use

- Netscape
- Mosaic
- Lynx
- University of Florida VM browser
- Web Explorer
- Web Surfer
- Netshark
- CompuServe
- America Online
- Prodigy
- Delphi

Telecommunications Technology

- Analog modem (28.8 KB/S)
- ISDN (128 KB/S)
- T-1 (1.544 MB/S - U.S.)
- T-3 (45 MB/S)
- Cable (> 10 MB/S)

Competitive Forces

- Cost too low to risk not being there!
- Snowball effect
 - 8% -10% per month growth in commercial servers
 - in 1995 Internet presence is as important as having facsimile

Is Anyone Making Money?

- Telephone and cable companies
- Hardware
- Internet Service Providers (ISPs)
- Information Providers
- Internet related businesses
- Other businesses
 - Is this the right question?
 - Revenue sources

Telephone and Cable Companies

- Telephone companies
 - profitable but facing pressure from cable companies and, perhaps in the long run, voice over the Internet
- Cable companies
 - nascent industry for Internet access
 - PSI in Cambridge
 - TCI in Michigan

Hardware

- Sun Microsystems (servers)
 - 1 in 250 hosts on the Internet is a Web server
 - just announced 2 for 1 stock split
- CISCO (routers)
- Modem sales
 - 29.000.000 in 1995

Internet Service Providers

- United States
 - UUNET
 - Nine months ending 30 September LOSS of $750.000 compared with LOSS of $4.7 million for the same period in 1994. Revenue up 302 %.
 - PSI
 - Nine months ending 30 September LOSS of $23,4 million compared with LOSS of $3.8 million for the same period in 1994. Revenue up 140%.
- United Kingdom
 - PIPEX
 - LOSS of £1.09 million on revenue of £3.76 million

Information Providers

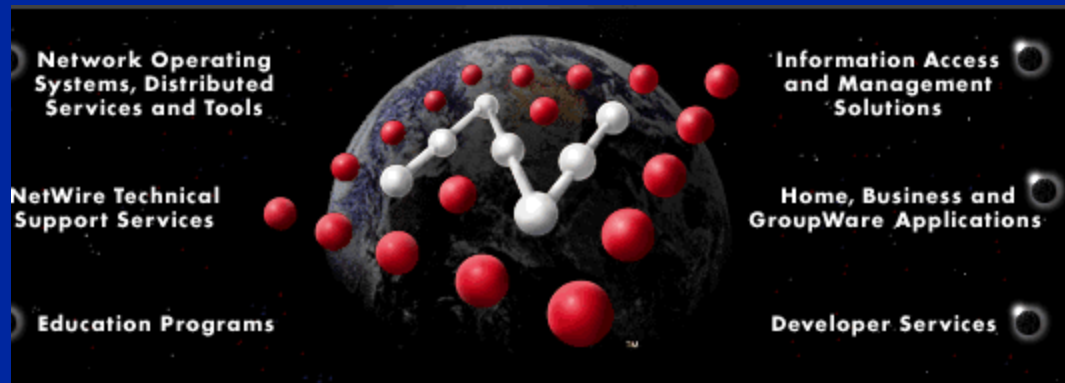

- CompuServe
 - PROFIT $44 million
- PRODIGY
 - LOSS
- America On Line (AOL)
 - Accounting process changed LOSS to PROFIT
- All plan to offer full Internet access
 - AOL (GNN) went online in October

Internet Related Businesses

- Netscape
 - First profitable quarter
- YAHOO
 - Profitable from advertising revenue
- Infoseek
 - Revenue from services and advertising
- Netmanage
 - Profitable

Other Businesses

- Is this the right question?
 - the point of sale is irrelevant
 - the point is to make a sale
 - enhanced marketing
 - Reebok
 - enhanced customer support
 - Novell

Other Businesses

- Revenue sources
 - Advertising
 - Fee for service
 - Fee for content
 - Direct sales

Revenue Sources

- Advertising
 - 1995 expenditures for WWW advertising
 - $10.000.000
 - 2000 expenditures for WWW advertising
 - $2.2 thousand million
 - Pricing is highly variable
 - Netscape - $15.000 to $30.000 per month
 - HotWired - $15.000 per month
 - DealerNet - $995 + $500 per month

Revenue Sources

- Fee for service
 - INSWEB - $2,50 per request
 - InfoSeek - $9,95 per month for 100 searches
 - Industry.Net - $3.000 to $8.000 a year for electronic storefront
 - Electronic Newstand - retains from $5 to $10 for every subscription sold

Revenue Sources

- Fee for content
 - San Jose Mercury News - $1 to $5 per month

Lamborghini Diablo VT

A Blending of World Class Style, Performance and Luxury

In the tradition of manufacturing extraordinary grand touring automobiles, Automobili Lamborghini has once again demonstrated that pairing old-world hand craftsmanship with state-of-the-art engineering technology delivers world-class results. The latest testament out of the Sant'Agata facility is the 1994 Lamborghini Diablo VT.

The magnificent Diablo (so named after the legendary and ferocious fighting bull that fought an epic battle in Madrid in 1869) has been significantly reengineered since its introduction in 1990. In total, nearly 25 percent of the 6,000 components comprising a Diablo VT have been either redesigned or modified for the 1994 model. This is a bold statement on behalf of the engineers who endlessly strive for superiority.

The most distinguishing trait of the aluminum-bodied Diablo VT is in its use of an original four-wheel traction system. The Viscous Traction (VT) feature increases the performance in conditions of low ground adherence which would normally render the vehicle less efficient with only rear-wheel drive capabilities.

Based on the relationship between the grip and torque, when the rear wheels begin to spin the surplus torque is automatically transferred to the front axle. This allows the Diablo VT to maintain itself into four-wheel drive when the rear-wheel drive alone reaches its natural limit of adherence.

The viscous drive unifies the functions of torque differential and anti-slip offering superb traction in all conditions and, as a result, safer and better handling. Thus, the tendency to oversteer when cornering at the limit, a characteristic of most rear-wheel drive vehicles, is greatly reduced by this traction system. The driver will immediately notice that driving the Diablo VT is more relaxing and less demanding.

The Diablo VT is able to effortlessly adapt from a comfortable luxury vehicle at low speeds into a competitive high performer capable of stable cornering and astonishing acceleration and top-end speeds.

As with the earlier Diablos, the source of pride in ownership rests in the secure knowledge that the generous 5.7-liter, 492-horsepower V-12 powerplant sits mid-longitudinally and generates 428 lbs./ft. of torque at 5200 rpm.

The Diablo VT has a recorded top speed of 201.9 mph and 0-60 mph times of 4.09 seconds.

Dramatically improving driver comfort and handling, the Diablo VT incorporates active suspension and powered rack and pinion steering. Fully adjustable, the active suspension when engaged in the automatic mode is governed completely by the vehicle's speed. The damping program is chosen automatically from predetermined maps based on tests involving varying road conditions. In manual mode, the driver can choose one of the damping programs through the console.

Naturally, safety aspects take priority. If the driver selects a "soft ride" program but exceeds acceptable programmed speeds, the computer will automatically adopt a stiffer, more sporty program for the increased performance. This remains inserted until the speed is reduced to more acceptable levels at which point the originally chosen ride is readopted.

Power steering, an infrequent feature in high performance sports cars, also significantly improves driver comfort of the Diablo VT without sacrificing safety. Its action is also speed sensitive so that the steering is "hardened" as speed increases. This offers the driver maximum sensitivity and precise control at higher speeds, yet will allow light and easy maneuverability at lower speeds.

Slight styling modifications inside the all-leather cabin has noticeably improved visibility and ergonomics. The classic polished gate serves as the centerpiece among such luxury appointments as air conditioning, AM/FM/CD stereo and power windows to increase driver pleasure for everyday driving.

Numerous alternations have been made on quality, many of which can be seen. Other, certainly no less important, remain hidden and relate to improvements to the engine cooling system, timing system to reduce noise, improvements to the dashboard for visibility and ergonomics, improvements to the recirculation of air within the passenger compartment and improvements to the electrical harness which is due to the union of various electrical circuits that are led to a centralized control device that serves as a "body computer."

Ensuring a smooth and safe ride at all speeds, the Diablo VT is equipped with Pirelli P-Zero tires mounted on 17-inch aluminum OZ wheels.

The sleek, curvaceous lines of the Diablo are reminiscent of its Lamborghini predecessor, the highly acclaimed Countach. The slight similarities are no coincidence when one spots the identifying signature plaque of designer Marcello Gandini that adorns each Diablo.

"The Diablo VT is undoubtedly the finest exotic sports car on the market," says Robert A. Braner, president and COO of Automobili Lamborghini USA, who added that in terms of performance, aesthetic qualities and in driver friendliness, the Diablo VT is unparalleled.

InfoSeek Charges

When you sign up as a new InfoSeek user, you will be given a free Standard membership plan for one month. If you attempt to use the service beyond the free trial period, the system will notify you that your free trial has ended. You must enter payment information and select a membership plan if you wish to continue using InfoSeek.

If you decide to become a regular member, your charges each month will be computed based on your usage and your membership plan. There is no charge for connect time. You can change your membership plan at any time after the free trial period. Document retrievals from Premium collections are priced separately (see details below).

Membership Plans

Plan	Monthly fee	# free/mo	Transaction fee
-----	-----	-----	-----
Occasional	FREE	0	20 cents
Light Use	$1.95	10	15 cents
Standard	$9.95	100	10 cents

Our Occasional plan has no recurring monthly fee. You will be billed only for your usage during the month. If you don't use the service, there is no bill. All transactions (a "transaction" is query or document retrieval) are only 20 cents each. This is an ideal plan if you prefer to use InfoSeek only if you can't find what you are looking for elsewhere or if you're not yet sure how much you'll use InfoSeek. You can switch over to one of the other plans at any time with no penalty.

Our Light Use plan costs $1.95 per month and is good for people who need to use InfoSeek infrequently. This plan includes 10 free transactions (additional transactions are 15 cents each). This is a very good deal if your searching needs are very modest and your usage is infrequent.

Our Standard plan costs $9.95 per month and includes 100 free transactions. Additional transactions are only 10 cents each. This is the best deal if you use InfoSeek a lot.

Personal Newswire

Personal Newswire lets you run one or more saved queries whenever you want. Each time you run your Personal Newswire, you will be charged one transaction for each saved query.

Payment methods

InfoSeek accepts all major credit cards, corporate purchase orders, checks, money orders, and domestic and international wire transfers. After the free trial period, you must choose a payment method to open an account, but you can change your payment method at any time. We also offer site licenses and corporate accounts. Click here for details on the payment options available.

Here are the details on how your charges will be computed:

- ☐ Each query counts as 1 transaction.
- ☐ Each document retrieval counts as 1 transaction.
- ☐ Your monthly membership fee, transaction fee, and number of free transactions per month depends upon the membership plan you choose (see the Membership Plans table above).
- ☐ The amount of your bill is computed by adding the monthly fee, the usage fee (the number of transactions exceeding the number of free transactions per month times the transaction fee), and any fees for use of Premium collections (see table below).

The following are free:

- ☐ Queries of our Help collection (FAQ).
- ☐ Queries that do not return any documents.
- ☐ Retrievals from our Help and WWW collections.
- ☐ Reloading a Titles page or document within 1 hour.

Premium collection pricing

Most of InfoSeek's databases are covered by the pricing described above. A few databases are Premium databases and are priced differently. When you first retrieve documents from a Premium Collection, you will be prompted to select a document retrieval pricing plan (which we call a "subscription") for that collection. For Premium collections, your membership plan determines your "per query" cost, while your "subscription" to that particular Premium database determines your "per document retrieval" cost.

Grant's Florist & Greenhouse

Branch Information Services is pleased to present Grant's Florist & Greenhouse, the first Internet flowershop. With a color screen and a recent version of Mosaic or Netscape, you can view and then order FTD (tm) flowers for delivery anywhere in the US and Canada. Please consider using our free reminder service or write down our address: <http://florist.com/>

Return to the Branch Mall

General Information:

We offer a service where you can view and conveniently order fresh flowers that will be delivered by a florist local to the recipient. One common concern with flowers is price and availability. Different areas of the country sometimes have different prices or may be unable to supply certain flowers. For example, New York City has high rents and costs of doing business, so flowers are more expensive there. Some areas charge an additional $1-$4 delivery charge. We have been providing quality flowers since 1947 and always work to get you the arrangement closest to your order at the lowest price. We ask that you give us some leeway and we will call you if flowers in that area cannot be purchased for the maximum amount you specify on the order form. All prices are in US dollars and do not include the $3 wire service charge. Items may not be exactly as shown.
