

Figure 3.6. Dark field photomicrograph of the filament tip of a large, nitrate-accumulating Beggiatoa from the Guaymas Basin hydrothermal vents. The filament is ca. 160 μ m in diameter. The highly refractory sulfur globules outline the disklike cells within the filament. Courtesy of Andreas Teske.